ESSEX RED NUMBERS AND ORDER DRAWN

OF THE 104 NAMES PROBABLY
ABOUT 40 COME IN FIRST DRAFT.

The Times presents below the registration ("red") numbers of the Essex men, 104 in number, who registered under the selective draft act, and were drawn for service at Washington last Saturday, together with the order in which the names were drawn.

The list is compiled from the press lists which were sent out and it is possible that some trifling errors may be found, but if so, they will probably affect the standing of the men in very little degree.

The figures at the left give the "red figure" number of the men while those at the right show the order in which they will be called. While the number to be examined on the first call is as yet not positively known, it is not considered probable that more than 40 names or those whose drawing number was below 3000, will be called on the first draft.

The names of the men are as follows:
